

“Before MEOR, I felt like I just happened to be Jewish. There was the rest of my life, and then there was Judaism - a burden that I had to deal with. No bread on Pseach, looking for labels when I buy food. Now I see Judaism as the true blessing it is, giving my life purpose and meaning, and ideals to work towards.”

- Jacob Binstein

Rutgers
University